BRIEF HISTORY OF THE INDIANA SOCIETY SONS AMERICAN REVOLUTION

The love of liberty, with its desire for freedom in personal affairs, which prompted so large a number of the first settlers in America to leave the homes of their fathers and seek habitations in this new, little-known country, so far distant across the ocean, was not a transient emotion awakened by some whim or mood of its possessor, but was rather an inherent outgrowth from generation to generation. Within a century and a half after the first settlement of white people in America this emotion had grown to the form of open rebellion against the oppressions of the rulers, resulting in the Declaration of Independence and Revolutionary War.

The American colonists who aided in this honorable struggle were actuated by the highest motives for right, and the heritage that they have handed down has been one which their descendants still cherish with just pride.

Feeling that a recognition of this heritage was due these patriots from their Indiana descendants, a preliminary meeting was held in Indianapolis on April 23, 1889, to formulate plans for perfecting an organization among them. Such organization was had January 15, 1890, when the name INDIANA SOCIETY, SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION was adopted; also a constitution and by-laws. Officers were elected at this time, consisting of Samuel Merrill, President; Charles W. Moores, Secretary; David E. Snyder, Registrar, and C. H. McDowell, Treasurer. Thirteen Vice-Presidents from widely scattered points in the State were chosen, all of them men of distinction. Among these men were Hon. Schuyler Colfax, at one time Vice-President of the United States; Newland T. DePauw, noted philanthropist and patron of education; William H. English, later a candidate for Vice-President of the United States, who was Number 1 in the Indiana Society; William Grose, Major-General of Union forces during the Civil War, and other men of renown.

One of the most notable accomplishments of the Society during its early years was the interest it awakened in other patriotic organizations and in the State Legislature in the erection of subsidiary monuments around the Indiana State Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument upon the Monument Circle in Indianapolis.

Numerous other public works of a like patriotic nature have been sponsored by the Society, an especially hearty co-operation having been given the celebrations in Vincennes in 1929 and 1936 of the anniversary of its capture by General Clark.

Various committees have been actively functioning through the years.

Many patriots' graves have been located and properly marked, through the efforts of the Society, especially during the presidency of C. F. Posson. The efficient work during recent years of the Good Citizenship Medal Committee is also worthy of mention.

Especially praiseworthy was the tireless, self-sacrificing work of Charles W. Moores, who during the first fifteen years of the Indiana Society served as its Secretary, later becoming its President.

THE UNION

A union of the Indiana Society of the Sons of the Revolution and the Indiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution became an accomplished fact in 1929.

Several years prior to this the Indiana Society of the Sons of the Revolution with several other state societies of the Sons of the Revolution had been endeavoring to secure a national union with the Sons of the American Revolution whose requirements for membership and whose aims and objectives were substantially the same.

Being unable to make any progress with the national union, the Indiana Society of the Sons of the Revolution appointed a committee consisting of R. L. Moorhead, former President of the Society, as chairman; Elward W. Warner, T. A. Daily and C. L. Barry to discuss and negotiate plans for a union with the Indiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. They met with President Herbert Briggs and J. F. Clearwater of the Indiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and after numerous meetings and discussions arranged for a union between the two societies on the general terms that all the members in good standing of the Sons of the Revolution should be admitted as members of the Sons of the American Revolution; that past service as an officer of the Sons of the Revolution should count as services in the united societies; all property and moneys of the Sons of the Revolution to be turned into the common treasury. It was also agreed that the President of the Indiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution for the next year should be chosen from the former members of the Sons of the Revolution and that this plan should alternate for five years, at which time it was to be assumed that the amalgamation was complete.

The result was a strong and united State Society of over six hundred members. Thomas A. Daily, formerly of the Indiana Society of the Sons of the Revolution, was chosen the first President of the united societies.

SCHOOL MEDALS TO PROMOTE CITIZENSHIP

The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution have awarded medals for many years for the best essays on subjects dealing with Revolutionary history. These medals have been awarded to high school students, and the results have been most satisfactory; and any boy or girl who wins one of these medals will, it is believed, become a loyal and patriotic citizen, following along the lines of his endeavor to achieve this honor.

The medal is of bronze, of a dignified and attractive design, and can be secured at cost by addressing the Treasurer, Indiana Society.

THE PLAN OF AWARD

Since the Society has as one of its purposes the stimulation of a vigorous patriotism, it believes that such a purpose is to be secured only as the youth of our schools become imbued with high ideals of character and citizenship. Through its state and chapter organizations this medal will be awarded annually to the pupil, boy or girl, in the graduating class of each school who shall have best exemplified the principles of good citizenship.

The qualities to be considered in making this award shall be:

I. Dependability as evidenced by the record in punctuality, truthfulness, honesty, loyalty, trustworthiness and self-control.

II. Co-operation as evidenced by the record in respect for authority, respect for property, respect for the rights of others, and courtesy.

III. Leadership as evidenced by what the pupil has done to make the school a better school.

IV. Patriotism as evidenced by loyalty to, and the knowledge of, the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of the United States.

V. No pupil shall receive the Sons of the American Revolution medal who is not clean in speech and in personal habits.

SONS AMERICAN REVOLUTION RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS MEDALS

These medals are awarded in high schools and colleges that give military training to students in such classes and to Citizens Military Training Camps—the one annually conducted at Fort Benjamin Harrison here in Indiana for example.

These R. O. T. C. medals are awarded to students who exhibit in their work a high degree of merit with respect to leadership, soldierly bearing and excellence in theoretical courses of studies.

There are no specific instructions and it is intended that these awards shall be made in co-operation with the commandants of such units as are functioning at our several army posts or state colleges and universities. The time and place may be planned as convenient.

MEETING OF THE MANAGERS

The monthly meetings of the Board of Managers are held in the S. A. R. room of the Spink Arms Hotel, Indianapolis, on the first Wednesday of each month. All members of the Society are urged to attend these meetings and members who reside outside of Indianapolis are especially urged to attend whenever possible. The meeting is held at 12:00 noon. Luncheon is served.

THE FLAG

A silk United States of America flag is sent to the family of each deceased member for the funeral.

CONSTITUTION OF THE INDIANA SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Article I. Name

The name of this Society shall be "The Indiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution".

Article II. Term

The Society shall be organized in perpetuity.

Article III. Objects

The objects of this Society are declared to be patriotic, historical and educational and are designed to perpetuate the memory of the men who, by their services or sacrifices during the war of the American Revolution, achieved the independence of the American People, to unite and promote friendship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the war as well as documents, relics and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution and places in the State of Indiana associated therewith, by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the important events of the war and of the Revolutionary period; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and to carry out the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution of our country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people.

Article IV. Eligibility for Membership

Any male citizen of good repute in the community, over the age of eighteen years, shall be eligible for membership, who is descended lineally on either the male or female line, from an ancestor who assisted with unfailing loyalty in establishing American independence during the War of the Revolution; whether as a military or naval officer, soldier or sailor or in any recognized official civil capacity, in the service of any one of the thirteen colonies or states, or of the National Government representing the united colonies or states. No person lacking these qualifications or who shall be ineligible to membership in the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, shall be eligible to membership in this Society.

Article V. Officers

The officers of the Society shall be president, four vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer, registrar, chaplain, historian, genealogist, a trustee who shall represent the Society in the Board of Trustees of the National Society, eighteen managers elected by this Society, and one manager elected by each active Chapter of the Society in this state, from its own membership. These officers shall constitute the Board of Managers, and all shall have such duties, functions and obligations usually appertaining to such officers, and as prescribed by the by-laws of the Society. Neither of the above offices shall be combined with any other, nor shall any member be eligible to hold more than one such office at the same time, except Registrar-Genealogist, and the Secretary-Treasurer. The Society or its said Board of Managers shall have power to elect honorary officers, and to designate their titles, duties and prerogatives.

Article VI. Meetings

The annual meeting of the Society shall be held upon the 25th day of February, the anniversary of the capture of Fort Sackville at Vincennes, Indiana, each year, unless otherwise ordered by the Board of Managers, and excepting such times when such dates shall fall upon Sunday, in which event said meeting shall be held on the preceding day. The Board of Managers shall have power to call a special meeting of the Society at any time by sending written notice thereof to each member at least ten days prior to such meeting setting out the time, place and purpose of such meeting.

Article VII. Amendments

This constitution may be altered or amended by a two-thirds vote at any annual meeting of the Society, or at any special meeting called for that purpose after giving written notice thereof in the manner herein prescribed for the calling of the special meetings of this Society.

The annual meeting of the society is held on February 25 or the day as near thereto as convenient.

By-Laws

Section 1. Members shall be elected as follows: Candidates may send their names and documents, or other proofs of qualification for membership, to the Secretary; and upon a favorable consideration by the Board of Managers, shall, upon payment of the membership fee and first annual dues, thereupon become members of the Society.

Sec. 2. The initiation fee shall be two dollars and the annual dues three dollars. The payment at one time of one hundred dollars shall constitute a life member, and the member so paying shall be exempt from the payment of annual dues thereafter.

Sec. 3. The annual meeting of the Society shall be held on the 25th day of February, the anniversary of the capture of Ft. Sackville, at Vincennes, Indiana, and in each and every year thereafter, at which a general election of officers by ballot shall take place, except when such date shall fall on Sunday, in which event the meeting shall be held on the following day, unless otherwise set by the Board of Managers upon due notice to the members. In such election, a majority of the ballots cast for any officer shall constitute a choice.

Sec. 4. At all meetings of the Society, five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Sec. 5. The President, or, in his absence, one of the Vice-Presidents, shall preside at all meetings. He shall preserve order and shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Society.

Sec. 6. The Secretary shall conduct the general correspondence of the Society. He shall notify all members of their election and of such other matters as he may be directed by the Society. He shall have charge of the seal, certificate of incorporation, by-laws and records of the Society. He, together with the presiding officer, shall certify all acts of the Society. He shall give due notice of the time and place of all meetings of the Society, and attend the same. He shall keep fair and accurate records of all the proceedings and orders of the Society; and shall give notice to the several officers of all votes, orders, resolutions, and proceedings of the Society affecting them or pertaining to their respective duties.

Sec. 7. The Treasurer shall collect and keep the funds and securities of the Society. They shall be deposited in some bank or savings institution in this State, to the credit of THE INDIANA SOCIETY OF THE SONS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION, and shall be drawn thence on the checks of the Treasurer for the purposes of the Society only. Out of these funds he shall pay such sums only as may be ordered by the Society or by the Board of Managers. He shall keep a true account of his receipts and payments, and at each annual meeting render the same to the Society, when a committee shall be appointed to audit his accounts.

Sec. 8. If, from the annual report of the Treasurer, there shall appear to be a balance against the Treasurer, no appropriation of money shall be made for any object but the necessary current expense of the Society until such balance shall be paid.

Sec. 9. The Registrar shall keep a roll of members; and in his hands shall be lodged all the proofs of membership qualification, and all books and the historical and geographical papers, manuscript or other, of which the Society may become possessed; and under the direction of such executive committee of the Board of Managers, shall, for adequate compensation, keep a copy of such similar documents as the owners thereof may not be willing to leave permanently in the keeping of the Society.

Sec. 10. The Board of Managers shall judge of the qualifications of the candidates for admission to the Society and elect the same, and shall have charge of all the special meetings of the Society, and shall, through the Secretary, call special meetings at any time, upon the written request of five members of the Society, and at such other times as they see fit. They shall recommend plans for promoting the objects of the Society, shall digest and prepare business and shall authorize the disbursement and expenditure of unappropriated money in the treasury for the payment of current expenses and the work of increasing the membership, organization and maintenance of chapters and other expenses of the Society. They shall act as Trustees of the Society and generally superintend the interests of the same, and execute all such duties as may be committed to them.

At all meetings of the Board of Managers three shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Sec. 11. No amendment of the By-Laws shall be made unless adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members present at a meeting of the Society.

Sec. 12. Membership shall cease whenever dues being delinquent for three years a default of thirty days shall occur in the payment of the annual dues or other obligations to the Society.

Local Chapters

Sec. 13. Local chapters may be organized in any county of Indiana upon the application in writing to the Board of Managers of ten members of the Indiana Society, whose qualification for membership shall have been duly approved by the National Society. The selection of its officers and its mode of government shall be under the control and direction of such local chapter free of any outside supervision so long as the conduct of its affairs is in conformity with the Constitution and By-Laws of the National and State Society, of which it shall be a part.

Order of Business

1. Opening exercises.
2. Calling roll of officers and members.
